Government Postage Stamps Acquiring New Look

The government postage stamps that Auxiliarists are accustomed to seeing will be slowly phased out and replaced by regular U. S. postage stamps. ANSC has begun the transition and will be supplying a mixture of types with various denominations until the existing government stamp inventory is depleted. Auxiliarists are requested to use government postage stamps on hand or received from ANSC first before using the commercial postage stamps. As a reminder to all Auxiliarists, they are accountable for the proper use of the stamps as defined in the Auxiliary Manual. Stamps may be ordered from ANSC using the appropriate order form.

Please add proper postage amount to your mail - See: Postal Rates Chart

	Government Postage Stamps Acquiring New Look The government postage stamps that Auxiliarists are accustomed to seeing will be slowly phased out and replaced by regular U. S. postage stamps. ANSC has begun the transition and will be supplying a mixture of types with various denominations until the existing government stamp inventory is depleted. Auxiliarists are requested to use government postage stamps on hand or received from ANSC first before using the regular stamps. As a reminder to all Auxiliarists, they are accountable for the proper use of the stamps as defined in the Auxiliary Manual.
